ME

“ Chris and I attended DLI together in Monterey, CA. I was pregnant at the time and had a son who was 14 back in FL. Chris and I used to hang out like a mother and son would. We went to a pumpkin patch and carved pumpkins, his won. We would have study sessions because he was better at speaking Spanish than I was. He won the "Guess the Girth" game at my baby shower by guessing correctly how big my tummy was all around. I remember how easily he would blush and that smile would just light us all up. We kept in touch from time to time after DLI was finished, as often as military people tend to,,which isn't always a lot. He will be deeply missed. He reminded me so much of my son when we were hanging out in CA.

I send my deepest and most sincere condolences to his mother, father, and siblings. There are many wonderful people waiting to greet him up there, but there are even more that are going to miss him terribly here.

He brought happiness to many people with his smile and wonderful personality, and will not be forgotten.
