“ I count it a great blessing to have known Jerry Sandifer. During the years immediately after World War II, when I was a young child, Jerry's parents and his sister, Ellen, frequently brought him to my parents' grocery store in Crystal Springs. Chronologically, Jerry was quite a bit older than I. But Jerry's intellectual handicap prevented his emergence from childhood---ever. So, when I was a preschool child and Jerry was a teenager we interacted as equals. For me, being with Jerry always was a great delight. Jerry was a happy guy who seemed glad to see everybody---not just me. I became very fond of him, and the Sandifer family provided an unforgettable example of what it means to provide loving care for family members, no matter what their circumstances may be. I know they're enjoying a great reunion with Jerry in Heaven.
