“ Meme and I were friends on FB, never met her in person, but felt like I had known her all my life.. She was, and is, the Lady of all Ladies, the most unique Lady, talents beyond words can describe, very pretty, and truly the best Mother, Grandmother, and Great Grandmother you could find... Her daily humor, laughter, compassion for her animals, and truly caring for the people she knew was unmatched... She will be missed and never forgotten, there will never be another "Meme" like "Meme" was...

“ I went to Crystal Springs elementary and high school with Nell(MeMe) and I have too many happy, and fun stories about school to put in one small space. The ones involving Nell were always fun; the day we made soap sud biscuits in Mrs. Purvis class was especially memorable. I also remember spending the night with her and staying up most of the night. She was a remarkable lady and I am still in shock that we lost her, I will really miss her but, I can only imagine the rejoicing that was done in heaven when those pearly gates opened and in walked Nell, I would Love to see when she and Diane Blackmon met, those two great friends are still talking and catching up from when we saw Diane here own earth, I feel better just knowing they are watching over all of us, I will see you two one day until then save me a place on the street where you live and we can pick up where we left off! Love to my angels, Louanne Ford Evans, RIP
