“ One of the sweetest friends of my son, Lee. Never questioned when he saw a “need”, but always offered his skilled services to help repair something broken. I've always preferred to pay someone I know and could help, while they helped me. He loved his friends and family, and never seemed to have an unkind word about anyone that I ever heard him speak. He's gone too soon, and will be missed by many. God Bless for him to Rest In Peace, and the family & friends to have comfort during this difficult time~~and the coming days 🙏🙏🙏. I, for one, will miss the ability to see his smiling face, watch him devour a good meal, offer a few laughs & jokes to the room, and enjoy the fellowship of those around him. His memories will live through that those that continue to tell his stories 😊
